

KGO Adult Literacy Program

Empowering residents in Kingston-Galloway-Orton Park

The KGO Adult Literacy Program is a free program that assists adults ages 21 and older with their reading, writing and math skills.

Our mission is to assist adults in the Kingston-Galloway-Orton Park community so they are empowered to establish goals that lead to increase their social, personal and economic capacities, explore new opportunities and initiate change.

Join this program:

- To be able to read the newspaper, books, webpages, health information, etc. more easily and with a better understanding
- To be able to understand and complete government forms
- To be able to write letters, stories and paragraphs and improve your spelling
- To be able to use math in your everyday life (tell time, shop, bank, count money etc.)
- To be able to help your kids or grandkids with their homework
- To increase your overall confidence and learn among your peers
- To increase your confidence in your work or improve your employment opportunities
- To advocate for oneself and be more involved in your community
- To upgrade your reading, writing or math skills to enter Academic Career Entrance (ACE) programs

Our program runs every Thursday evening from 6:00pm to 8:30pm at Progress Church (4242 Kingston Road). We provide small group classes and one-to-one tutoring.
